

PROF. SANFORD, OF YALE, LOSES HIS LEFT EYE

Has It Removed When Paralysis Killed Sight, Left Right Be Affected.

CONDITION IMPROVING.

Was Travelling in Europe When Optic Nerve Was Suddenly Paralyzed.

Prof. Samuel S. Sanford, of Yale, is improving to-day at his home, No. 50 West Fifty-second street, after an operation removing his left eye, and it is believed the sight in the other eye has been saved.

Prof. Sanford was travelling in Europe last summer with his family when the sight of his left eye went out as suddenly as if the optic nerve had been severed. He was informed by Paris specialists that there was apparently a paralysis from some obscure growth, and that, in their opinion, he would never regain his sight in that eye. There was no pain, and no necessity for an immediate operation, and Prof. Sanford resumed his tour, returning to New York Sept. 15, since which time he has remained almost constantly in his New York home.

Pain in the affected eye recently appeared, and to guard against sympathetic affection of the right eye, the removal of the left eye was deemed advisable. The operation was performed by Dr. Wilbur S. Marple, of New York, and Dr. Ring, of New Haven.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

PRETTIER THAN GIBSON GIRL IS FISHER MAIDEN

She's From Connemara and Is Star Attraction at the Irish Fair.

The prettiest girl that ever came to town—a beauty whose figure, features and complexion fix a standard difficult to surpass and provide a type the Gibson girl school cannot equal.

That describes Miss Molly Brady, of Connemara, Ireland, who for a week has been easily the most attractive feature of the Irish Exposition at Madison Square Garden. She is attached to the Irish Fisheries exhibit, and in her red jacket and blue skirt of old-fashioned cut she presents charms which have captivated all the visitors.

Miss Brady is just a plain fisher maiden. She came to this country with Mrs. O'Reilly Neville, who is trying to interest the Irish Americans in a movement to build up the Irish fisheries. Mrs. Neville is the author of the book "Father Tom, of Connemara," a story of the fisherfolk of Ireland.

"I knew I could stir up some interest if I brought along a few pretty girls," says Mrs. Neville, "and I defy Ireland, or America either, to produce a finer specimen of womanhood than Molly Brady."

Miss Brady has dark hair and eyes and a brilliant complexion. Her figure is sturdy, but graceful and well developed. She has the queenly poise of a thoroughbred and a voice as soft and musical as a summer sigh. There is just a trace of brogue in it.

"I am not any different from the other girls at home," said Miss Brady to-day. "We all live the same regular life, and never think of our looks. I go to bed at 8 o'clock every night and am up before daylight."

"The open-air life and moist atmosphere are what give the Connemara girls a rich and clear complexion. That, and the fact that they are so healthy, does not seem to affect it. There isn't a girl in Connemara who cannot get out and trim a boat as well as her father or brother."

USED KEROSENE TO "ACCELERATE" FIRE

Experience came thick and fast for Freda Johnson, twenty-five years old, in her new position as servant in the home of John E. Coles, No. 139 Midwood street, Flatbush, today. She was employed a few days ago, but it was not deemed necessary to instruct her how not to start the fire in the furnace with kerosene.

Mr. Coles leaves the starting of the fire every morning to the servant, and the servant had managed to get away with it. To-day she found that the fire in the furnace had almost died out. After poking and blowing about a bit she went after the can of kerosene, unlabeled the spout and held it inside over the smoking embers.

As an accelerator the furnace fires she immediately sprang into success. The flame leaped out with a roar, ignited the dripping can and in another instant there was a loud explosion and the girl was hurled against the opposite wall of the cellar, with clothing and hair ablaze.

Mr. Coles heard her screams and ran into the cellar. He found it filled with quity that he reached the girl, put out the fire about her clothing and bore her upstairs.

FISHER MAIDEN PRETTIEST GIRL IN ALL NEW YORK.

Miss Molly Brady.

The girl was taken to the Kings County Hospital seriously burned on the hands, face and head. Mr. Coles received only a few blisters.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

Prof. Sanford, known as the "millionaire professor," occupies the chair of applied music at Yale. He is said by Paderewski to be "the most musically gifted person ever known." Prof. Sanford inherited $50,000 from his father, Henry Sanford, founder of the Adams Express Company.

TRAILED BURGLARS TO FOURTH "JOB"

Vigilant Watchman Caused Arrest of Pair While Forcing Door.

Henry Thompson has become aged tramping the block around One Hundred and Twenty-third street and Lenox avenue when the rest of Harlemites are supposed to be asleep. He has deduced weather of all degrees of severity, but has never been caught "off post."

His vigilance early to-day placed in the hands of the police two men, John Keeler, twenty-two years old, and Emmet Dalton, twenty-three years old, whom he trailed for seven blocks during which they attempted to break into four stores. Records at Police Headquarters may indicate previous police acquaintance. The pair gave their home as No. 24 East One Hundred and Twenty-third street, but admitted that the address was only temporary.

Thompson first spotted the pair near a real estate office on One Hundred and Sixty-sixth street. They were trying the doors with keys. Another block down they went to work on the door of a delicatessen shop and then laid siege to a paint shop. Meanwhile Thompson sent word to the nearest police station and Detectives More, Ryan and Callon were sent to help him. When the sleuths arrived, the two men, the police say, had jammed the front door of Goldwater Brothers' pharmacy, at No. 333 Lenox avenue. They were then arrested.

A burglar's kit, including keys, knives, and a jimmy, were found on the two men, the police say. The watchman, who is not a native New Yorker, might be easily pulled over their faces. The cloth was black and the design home made.

It is possible that a tragedy was averted by the courage of the old watchman, Thompson, as a young man who sleeps in the pharmacy was not aroused by the noise of the prowlers. Had they encountered him after effecting clearance it is not likely that the pair would have stood for much of an argument.

S. BAUMANN & BRO.

No Instalment Prices Here
Cash or Credit—One Low Price

Brass Beds, 14.50 Iron Beds, 3.98

Seamless Wilton Rugs, 4.0x7, value $12, 7.49

MORRIS CHAIR, in oak, golden finish, spring seat and back covered in velvet, value $4.98

DAVENPORT SOFA BED, The frame is oak, golden finish, or birch finished in mahogany, upholstered in rich velvet, with spring illustrated; set and back, value 25.00

FANCY BED, ROCKER, very strong, value $3.98

N.W. COR. 6TH AVE. & 15TH ST.

Why do without a Piano?

This January Sale puts a good instrument within reach of every family. The question of small total cost and easy terms of payment is settled to your satisfaction in this unusual clearance of Used Pianos.

On any Piano costing less than $150 we will accept

$5 Down and $1 a Week

with the privilege of returning the Piano within a year and applying the amount paid toward the cost of a new Piano.

Wednesday, Jan. 15.

The 50 odd Pianos offered, to-morrow and those reserved for each day of the week are all good instruments, which have been gone over by our experts, and put in fine condition.

When New. Sale Price.

1 Chickering Upright... $500 $95

1 Krakauer Upright... $375 $150

1 Wason Upright... $200 $85

1 Water Upright... $359 $125

1 Chevalier Upright... $325 $100

1 Sterling Upright... $550 $145

And 49 others.

Piano Dept. Fourth Fl.

Simpson-Crawford Co.

SIXTH AV. 19TH TO 20TH STREET, NEW YORK.

THE SIMPLE LIFE FOR FAT FOLKS— NOT STRENUOUS NOR HARSH—

If you're fat, uncomfortably fat, indigestion, or there is anywhere on your broad expanse one spot altogether too well covered with flesh, don't let it stand. Make it move. Standing fat breeds disease, weakens your constitution, makes you feel mean, groggy and ugly, and, worst of all, it hides your good looks or your beautiful form or figure. There is a new method in vogue now which was first advocated by some leading society stars and later endorsed by the leading ladies of Broadway, some of whom tipped the beam at 240 pounds. This new plan puts violent movements to sleep, gives hard work the quietest exercise a real makes breathing so simple and easy one feels one could live forever. It is so different from everything that has so far been indorsed for a "fat cure" that one can't help but marvel at the way it is doing its work. The fat fairly shrinks away without leaving the slightest trace of wrinkle, furrow or fold, and, what's more remarkable, there is no restriction put on your eating or drinking. You go on and enjoy life just the same. All you need to do is to take after each meal and before bedtime one teaspoonful of this simple prescription, which can be had at any good drug store: 1/2 ounce Marmola, 1/2 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3/4 ounce Syrup Simplex.

In these days, when there is so much substituting going on, it is well to see that you get Marmola in the original package and then you have ample guarantee that for sheer merit of goodness there is nothing to equal it. Don't confound the Marmola Prescription with anything for which similar claims are put forth. It is in no sense a patent medicine. It is a doctor's prescription.

Simpson-Crawford Co. Bargain Basement.

Continuing the Clearance of Coats, Suits and Furs at $7.49

Keeping up the values—maintaining the excitement at its highest—leading the sale from bright, new snappy stock, which makes every where are only too glad to give us at our own price.

50-inch, all wool Broadcloth & Kersey Coats, Elegant fur lined Coats, $7.49 All wool Suits, and full length satin rubberized Coats.

Not a garment worth less than $15.

Women's 50 inch Wool Kersey, Thibet and Mixture Coats, some prettily trimmed with silk braid, some strictly tailored. These coats formerly sold at $10.75, for Wednesday $3.97

Women's all wool Mixture Skirts, full plaited, with fold at foot, at $1.59

Several good styles in Fur Scarfs and Mitts—genuine furs—value up to $2.97 $10, at

2,000 Curtain Corners, 12c

1 1/2 yard samples of fine Nottingham and Scotch lace curtains: can be matched into pairs. Represent curtains worth from $1.50 to $2.50 per pair. Better qualities at 19c, 24c and 29c.

Remnants of Table Oil Ruffled Muslin Sash Cloth, 12c yd.

Standard quality, slightly imperfect, but not enough to impair its use. In 1-yard to 2-yard lengths.

12c for Good Window Shades

Excellent quality opaque shades, mounted upon reliable spring rollers. Some with slight imperfections. Complete with slat, brackets, cord.

$1.00 Lace Curtains $1.75 Lace Curtains $2.50 Lace Curtains 56c pair 98c pair $1.39 pair

$1,500 Worth of Embroideries for $500 To-Morrow

And they won't last any longer than to-morrow, either, unless it rains. We bought from a Fifth Avenue maker, retiring from business, all his stock of Finest St. Gall Embroideries Frontings, Yokings, Allovers, Wide Bands, Insertions, Edgings, Beadings, Galloons, Etc., Etc.

All imported for this season's selling. These are the prices that will sell them to-morrow. Values are disregarded entirely, as you plainly see:

3c., 5c., 9c., 12c., 19c., 39c. & 89c. Values from 7c. to $2.50 yd.

Also a lot of Val. Laces, Medallions and Venise Bands, worth to $3.50 yd., from the same source.

Val. Laces, 14c. to 39c. per 12 yds. Medallions and Venise Bands at 19c. to 79c. yd.

39c for Bed Sheets

Only One of the January Sale Bargains

Bed sheets "seconds"—just turned seconds because some have slight mildewishness such as old stains, more with some looms down; some entirely perfect; they are made of extra heavy finished muslin.

Sizes 72x90 and 84x90. No Man Orders Filled. Limit 4 to a Customer.

Eagle Sheets, 64x90; seamless; superfine round thread muslin, at... 39c